

Steve McGhee

Steve is the Principal and owner of LMA Architects where his role includes managing the day-to-day operation of the business as well as client management and business development (that's why he spends a lot of time on the golf course.... well, that's his excuse!). Over his 35 years career in architecture and construction he is a specialist in hotel, housing and healthcare designer.

Steve is also the owner and founder of SWiM Business Consultants providing mentoring and coaching to other business owners. Passionate about people development and making business and work places fun and enjoyable places to work.

Key business skills are in people development, business strategy and building and maintaining a successful business culture.

Husband, Dad of two and Mo Farah wannabe in his spare time.

“Flashback to you at 10 years old - What do you want to be when you grow up and can you remember why?”

I always wanted to be an Architect after seeing Paul Newman in Towering Inferno. I wanted to have a helicopter, fancy office with an apartment behind it and wear the same dashing safari suits! (it was the 70's after all!).
